Walgreens Boots Alliance, UI Designer

January 2018-Aug 2019 · Deerfield, IL

Collaborated with UX designers, product owners, business analysts, and business stakeholders on a next generation enterprise platform spanning across mobile & touch-enabled desktop form factors. Translated low fidelity wire frames, prototypes and other testable medias into intuitive, modern, and engaging user interfaces by combining: typography, iconography, color, space, and imagery. Drove our domain storyboard library enabling the program to better articulate the UX vision across multiple languages, time zones, and teams. (via Brooksource)

Freelance Designer, UI/Development

January 2016-May 2017 · Chicago, IL

T-E-N! App: Worked with a small team to design how interactions would look for a proposed social media application for iPhones. For this project, I designed each screen to embody the look and feel of the app, created basic mockups to showcase key features and structural elements.

Asia Driving School: Designed and developed a site for a small business that gives driving lessons in the Chicagoland area. To liven up the website, I used a bright color scheme and created graphics all across the site to represent the company in the best way possible. My aim was to create a design that was both memorable and engaging for future students.

Coaster Challenge, Art/Illustration

January 2016-May 2016 · Chicago, IL

Collaborated with a team of developers, illustrators and project managers to redesign the website for the Special Olympics Coaster Challenge. As one of the illustrators for this website, I designed artwork throughout the site along with merchandise that promoted the Coaster Challenge.
